DAILY GAZETTE.

THE GREAT "BORE."—The editor of the Russellville (La.) Herald, while in Louisville late, paid a visit to the artesian well and Charley, a well known "sable" who deals out the waters of life to visitors. The editor gives his impressions as follows:

"The greatest 'bore' in Louisville, and a curiosity that is well worthy of going to see, is the artesian well, the constantly throwing up a immense volume of water from the bowels of the earth. Machinery is attached by which the jet can be readily controlled, and to represent a snow storm, the weeping willow, the lily, etc. The attractions of the artesian well are enhanced by the colored superintendent and lecturer, old Charley, who is a decided original. Whilst we were present he asked a young lady if she would take a drink of the water 'personally or verbally.' She said she believed she would not take it either way. Charley said he thought it very strange, after our Creator had gone to the trouble to provide such a fountain of health, and which gushed up from the very depths of the earth, and whose source was in China, should be to 'depreciate it.' 'Why, Miss,' said he,
'it's the greatest medical water in the world, entirely matrimonial in its nature, harmonizes beautifully with the system, and acts upon the principle of spontaneous combustion. It eradicates the impurities of the system, and gives a melodious appetite; makes you feel like you are overfeeding continually and soaring away in the clouds or among the ambrosial bowers, filled with singing birds, while all the time you are sitting in your seat.'"

He expatiates for hours in the same strain of laughter. We took some of the water ly delighted with the well and Charley.

Reader, when you go to Louisville, if you do not visit the artesian well and old Char-

A WISCONSINER "HARD UP" IN CALI-FORNIA.—A California correspondent of the Dubuque Times presents the dark side of things in that country. He says:

"I saw a man from Wisconsin in a small upbeat town in El Dorado county, who had been two months in California. This was in November last. He had not found a single day's work; had offered to work for $10 per month, and even for his board; had just $5 left, and was ragged and almost barefoot. He begged us to tell him whether to go to earn $1 per month, or whether to ask any more for a while. Said he, and tears ran down his cheeks as he spoke, 'I sold my team and house and lot to pay off my debts and to get money to go to Pike's Peak. Being disappointed there, I came here. I have just received a letter from my family. My children were going barefooted in the snow, my wife nearly naked, and begging me to send money. By this time they won't have a mouthful to eat,' and the poor fellow fairly sobbed."

These are common instances, I have seen hundreds of men in nearly as bad plight. One "down-easter" I saw backed up against a stump by the roadside, gnawing away at a piece of raw bacon and a few crackers. Said he, 'I've got kinder us't to it now, got kinder us't to get pretty good.'"

This is a side of the picture seldom looked at. I could tell of many lucky strikes, of many fortunes made even during last summer; but that is no reason why folks should not hear the dark side. Strikes will be made, and are bound to be made as long as shafts are sunk or tunnels run, but they are very few and far between.

REMARKABLE PRESERVATION OF A HUMAN BODY.—THE CHEMISTRY OF NATURE.—
"Not many years since," says Fraser's Magazine, certain miners working far underground, came upon the body of a poor fellow who had perished in the suffocating pit 40 years before. Some chemical agent to which the body had been subjected—an agent prepared in the laboratory of nature—had effectually arrested the progress of decay. They brought it to the surface, and for a while, till it crumbled away through ex-posure to the atmosphere, it lay there, the image of a fine, sturdy young man. No convulsions had passed over the face in death, the features were tranquil; the hair was black as jet. No one recognized the face—a generation had grown up since the day on which the miner went down his shaft for the last time. But a tottering old woman who had hurried from her cot on hearing the news, came up, and she knew again the face which through all these years she had never quite forgot. The poor miner was to have been her husband the day after that on which he came to the grave. A true lover, of course, who was looking on for a general education and refined feelings are not deemed essential to the man whose work it is to get up coals, or even tin; but there were no dry eyes there when the gray headed old pilgrim cast herself upon the youthful corpse, and poured out to its deaf ear many words of endearment unused for forty years. It was a touching contrast—the one so old, the other so young. They had both grown these long years ago; but time had gone on with the living and stood still with the dead.

THE PRESIDENT THAT IS TO BE.—The editor of the Utica Morning Herald, who visited Mr. Lincoln, at his home in Springfield, says:

"Presently I heard footsteps on the stairs, and a tall, arrowy, angular gentleman with a profusion of wiry hair 'gliding around loose' about his head, and a pair of eyes that seem to say 'I make you feel at home,' and a forehead remarkably broad and capacious, and arms that were somewhat too long and lank for a statue of Apollo, made his appearance. The lips were full of character, the nose strongly aquiline, the cheek bones high and prominent, and the whole face indicative at once of goodness and resolution. In repose it had something of rigidity, when in play, it was one of the most eloquent I have ever seen. None of his pictures do him the slightest justice.
His presence is commanding, his manner winning to a marked degree. After you have been five minutes in his company, you can't think that he is either homely or awkward. You recognize in him a high-toned, unassuming, chivalrous-minded gentleman, fully posted in all the essential amenities of social life, and sustained by the infallible monitor of common sense."

The Democratic Platform.

We published a day or two since the platforms of the double-headed democratic party. It will be seen that they are nearly identical in sentiment. The Douglas platform makes some pretense towards squatter sovereignty, but one of the resolutions not only kills "my great principle" outright, but pledges congress to pass a slave code.

Looked at the resolution, which is as follows: "Resolved, That it is in accordance with the Cincinnati platform, that during the existence of territorial governments the measure of restriction, whatever it may be, imposed by the federal legislature over the subject of the domestic relations, AS THE SAME HAS BEEN OR SHALL HERE- AFTER BE FINALLY DETERMINED BY THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, SHOULD BE RESPECTED BY ALL GOOD CITIZENS, AND ENFORCED WITH PROMPTNESS AND FIDELITY BY EVERY BRANCH OF THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT."

It acknowledges a certain "measure of restriction" over slavery in the territories, imposed by the constitution. Douglas and his followers have heretofore told us that the people of a territory could introduce or exclude slavery, as they pleased, but now their resolution says there is a measure of restriction upon this, and a measure that is, "as the same has been or may hereafter be decided by the supreme court, is to be enforced with promptness and fidelity by every branch of the general government."

Now congress is one of the branches of the general government, and is bound, according to these resolutions, to enforce not only the decrees of the supreme court, but it is also under obligation to prevent the territorial legislatures from violating that "measure of restriction" which guards slavery in all the territories. If this resolution does not proclaim the duty of congressional intervention for the protection of slavery in the territories, then we do not understand the meaning of words. It was introduced into the convention by Mr. Wickliffe of Louisiana, and he declared that it would give Douglas forty thousand votes in that state. It was adopted by the convention without a division. It ought to be satisfactory to the most ultra fire-eater.

The northern Douglas men are abusing the southern seceders for their proslavery ululations, which are mildness itself when compared with those of the Douglas men from the south. Look at the speech of Mr. Cougden of Georgia, who said of himself in the Douglas convention that he was "proslavery in every sense of the word, yea, and an African slave-trade man." He declared slavery to be "founded upon the law of God and the law of nature, and a blessing to both nations."

Mr. Forsyth, the leader of the Douglas faction in Alabama, is boldly and openly in favor of the re-opening of the African slave trade. These two men voted for the Douglas platform; they like it; it is all they want, in addition to squatter sovereignty on the high seas, which they would undoubtedly get under a Douglas administration. Then they could go into their favorite business of bringing slaves from Africa to be carried into the territories of this country, where that certain "measure of restriction" upon the territorial legislatures would protect them in their piratical trade. Great is popular sovereignty when reduced to practice!

The Jonesboro Gazette, the leading democratic paper in "lower Egypt," hoists the names of Breckenridge and Lane at the head of its columns, and entirely repudiates Douglas and squatter sovereignty.

Madame Emilie Zulzasky Kossuth died on Friday morning at her residence in Brooklyn, aged 43 years. Madame Zulzasky was a sister of Louis Kossuth, and had been in this country since the memorable visit of the distinguished Hungarian exile.

During the last year, says the Lancet, the women of Great Britain have borne 2,000 children a day, 796,160 in the year; but death struck down above 1,300 a day, 503,003 in the year—and reduced the natural increase of population to a little more than 700 a day.

The Oswego, N. Y., grand jury publishes a card notifying managers of fairs and church festivals, held by church societies, that the practice of disposing of their goods by lottery is contrary to the statutes, and must not be persisted in.

For the Daily Gazette.

Messrs. Editors:—We had the pleasure of attending the republican meeting at Edgerton last evening. Swift's Hall, the largest and best assembly room in the county, was well filled by an intelligent and appreciative audience of ladies and gentlemen.

The speaking commenced at a quarter to 9 o'clock, by Judge Gibbs, who, in a masterly manner proceeded to expose the frauds and corruptions of the so-called democratic party, holding the profound attention of his audience, and frequently, by his decided bits or sparkling wit, elicited immense applause.

By the way, the Judge became so absorbed in his subject that he lost all knowledge of time or space, and so continued to discharge his heavy artillery at the enemy for nearly one hour and a half, demolishing their strongholds and routing them horse and foot.

Mr. Graham was then called for and came forward and said that it was now after 10 o'clock, and too late on the night of the 3d of July to make a speech. He however engaged the attention of the audience for a short time in some pertinent remarks upon the importance of the result of the present canvass, and telling some very amusing anecdotes which put the audience in most excellent good humor. His illustration of Douglas as the "setter" candidate, was a decided hit.

Then came J. M. Burgess. Well, you know "Joems." Just his appearance before an audience is the signal for a "heap of fun." He entertained the meeting with some well-timed remarks upon Douglas's scheme of non-intervention, and retired as usual amid a shower of applause.

One of the most agreeable features of the evening was the presence of a uniform company from Albion, under the command of Capt. West. They made an imposing appearance, exhibiting not only the accomplishments of well-disciplined soldiers, but excellent good sense in being ready to do army service in the republican cause.

Can't we induce them to come to Janesville and unite with us en route to the great ratification meeting to be held in Beloit on the 13th inst.? Let them consider this an invitation.

On the whole, the meeting at Edgerton was a good one, and attended by quite a party from Janesville who enjoyed both the meeting and the ride home by moon light very much. SPECTATOR.

There are some fierce Douglas men at Cleveland, Ohio. Gray of the Plaindealer is one of them. From the noise he made previous to the nomination, one would suppose that the whole population of that region was enthusiastic for the "Little Giant."

On Saturday last they had a county ratification meeting and there were just sixty-three persons present!

F. O. J. Smith, the great telegraph man, recently declared it as his opinion that the press was a curse to the telegraph. The press, we are sure, cordially reciprocate that idea, considering the telegraph a great curse to the press.

The Cambridge astronomers consider the comet now visible as a new one, never having been observed before. They say it will go southward and still keep in advance of the sun, until it disappears in the south. While it recedes from the sun, it will approach the earth, and will be conspicuously visible, at least with very small telescopes.

THE LUNATIC ASYLUM.—The trustees of the lunatic asylum, we learn, have already received applications from various parts of the state, to take charge of patients in the aggregate about 150, and as the applications keep coming in, the number will be very speedily doubled. The very limit of the capacity of the institution, we believe, is only about 180 patients. So it is evident that a great many applicants must be turned away, and the institution, in its present shape, will not begin to meet the wants of the state.

The issue of the New York Herald after the arrival of the Great Eastern, contained a single article of eighteen columns in length, which were to be put in solid type would occupy about twenty-five columns of our daily issue. What would our readers think if we presented them with that amount of trash in one article?

The only possible effect which can be caused by the union of the Douglas and Breckenridge factions in those states where it is proposed, would be to throw the election into the house. That having been done the house could not elect as it is now composed, and delaying the matter until the 4th of March, the senate would choose Gen. Joe Lane of Oregon, President Buchanan's special favorite. What benefit will that be to the Douglas democrats? Is such an object worth working for?

The Madison Argus, Berlin Courier, Portage City Record and Monroe State Rights condemn the recent decision of the supreme court in relation to farm mortgages. It is evident that the end of the farm mortgage question is not yet.

The Japanese embassy left New York on Saturday in the Harriet Lane, a revenue steamer, and were by her conveyed to the Niagara, in which they will make their voyage to Japan. They were escorted to the Harriet Lane by an organized procession of police and others, and an immense crowd of men, women and boys. Tommy's autographs were in demand, and himself was honored with cordial "good byes."

The steamship Adriatic has arrived from Europe bringing news of the continued success of Garibaldi, and that he mediates a descent upon the main lands. Two steamers having supplies for Garibaldi have been captured by the Neapolitans. One of them carried the American flag. The Emperor Napoleon has been on a visit to the Prince Regent of Prussia, and the Prussians think that the peace of Europe is now assured.

Wisconsin Institute for the Blind.

The undersigned, invited by the trustees and superintendent of the State Institute for the Blind to witness the examination of the pupils at the close of the session, June 26, 1860, take pleasure in making the following statements:

The exercises were such as are usually had on similar occasions at other educational institutions, if we except the reading of compositions. The want of sight necessarily precluded the writing of these to any considerable extent. The committee were, however, shown several specimens of penmanship, executed in their presence, which were highly creditable to their authors; the committee, moreover, were assured by the superintendent that several of the pupils were able to correspond with their parents and friends by means of writing. We were highly pleased with an invention by Mr. Chrochman to aid his pupils in the practice of this art.

We were favored with witnessing the examination of classes in the following branches, to wit: Reading, arithmetic, mental and natural philosophy, political and physical geography, rhetoric and geometry. We confess ourselves agreeably surprised at the readiness and correctness with which the questions in these several branches were responded to by the pupils. There was apparently a diversity of natural ability, and also of attainments; yet it was equally apparent that all had enjoyed good, sound educational training. One, simply hearing their recitations, could hardly believe them to be deprived of the sense of seeing. The various places on the maps named by the teachers, were pointed out with singular rapidity; arithmetical problems were solved with ease, and with far more readiness than some of the committee were able to do them; the principles of philosophy were discussed, and the apparatus was explained as to its use as we have been accustomed to hear and see these things done in other schools; geometrical propositions were demonstrated with clearness and promptness; in some cases the whole process was retained in the mind, while in others, the diagram, drawn upon cloth in raised characters, was placed in the hands of the pupils. The committee are entirely unanimous in expressing their thorough conviction of the happy fruits of the labors of the teachers in these branches of learning.

Of the musical department the committee desire to speak a special word of praise. The pupils sang and performed at the piano with taste and skill—the best possible commentary upon the ability of Mr. J. S. Allen, their accomplished teacher. We had good to hear so many voices joined in harmonious song, for the music of the lips will cheer the heart and make it better and happier. The superintendent informed us that his family was one of the happiest in the state—a remark shown to be entirely truthful by the smiling faces and cheerful bearing of its members. Here it should be stated that the assistant teachers and the worthy matron are in full and hearty sympathy with the superintendent in his devotion to the good of the pupils.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Chrochman the committee were conducted by him into the various rooms of the building, and also into the workshop, where he explained to us the facilities and arrangements, thus far completed or inaugurated, for the use and benefit of the blind of our state, and we cannot conclude this report in justice to our views and feelings, until we shall have commended the superintendent to the favor of the citizens and authorities of the state, as a person eminently fitted to be placed at the head of such a noble institution, to preside over its interests; and until we shall have commended the institution itself to the favor of our rising and generous commonwealth. It would be a pleasure to us to know that all the blind in our state were unawakened here to enjoy the benefits which this monument to christian civilization has in store for them. We would also earnestly ask of the citizens of Janesville a kindly and manifest sympathy for this enterprise which the state has located within our borders. A visit from you would cheer the teachers in their toil, and encourage the pupils in their efforts to acquire useful knowledge. We feel constrained to say thus much, hoping that others of the unfortunate may be thereby drawn to the institution to live for a season, at least, under its benign influence, and to reap for themselves its numerous blessings.

A western friend asks the Albany Journal, "Is New York sure for Lincoln?" The Journal replies, "New York is as sure for Lincoln as Vermont is, and will give a larger majority than any other state in the Union."

An amusing affair occurred not many years ago at a fourth of July celebration in an interior town in Pennsylvania. Revolutionary veterans were becoming very hard to find, yet a procession with no old soldier in it was not to be willingly submitted to. An honest old German of Revolutionary renown was discovered at the last hour. An open carriage was assigned to him in the programme, and a seat at the President's right at the table. When pressed after dinner to give his reminiscences of Washington, his recollections were found to be rather indefinite. But something being said about Yorktown, he remarked: "Yaas, I vash at Yorktown." Under Washington's asked the President, "Yaas, I vash onder Washington vash surrendered." "No!" exclaimed the President, "Washington never surrendered." "Yaas, but you see, I vash one of de Hessians!"

The Fourth.

As was expected, in the absence of a general celebration, the Fourth was a quiet day in Janesville. The only public demonstrations were the dinner at the engine house of No. 2, and the picnic by the ladies of Christ church. In the afternoon many of the business places were closed, and in the evening Young, Middle-Aged and Old America indulged in the gratification of fire-crackers, rockets and wheels. Generally, during the day, there was a free and easy style of interchange of civilities between neighbors that marked a holiday characterized more by a cessation from labor than any prescribed mode of celebration.

The dinner at the engine house of No. 2 was well attended by many of our best citizens. A new and commendable feature was the presence of a clergyman, the Rev. Mr. Spaulding, who opened the exercises with the prayer in the liturgy of the Episcopal church appropriate to the day. The declaration of independence was read, and well read, by Warren D. Parker, and a brief, but good address delivered by Mayor Treat. Liberal provision for the tables, which were spread on the platform in the rear of the engine house and protected by green boughs, was made by the company, and a very orderly and commendable entertainment throughout was the consequence of the arrangements thus made to satisfy in part the absence of a more general public observance of the day.

The festival of the ladies of Christ church was a success. It was held in a pleasant place, and the arrangements were in most admirable style. A large number of ladies and gentlemen availed themselves of the occasion to meet and enjoy a social picnic. We believe all were well satisfied, and retired to their homes convinced that these quiet rural festivals are among the pleasantest modes of spending the Fourth.—This year has been marked by numerous gatherings of this kind, the public voice decides that they are a good thing, and vote for a repetition another year.

In the evening, a large number of our German citizens assembled for a dance at the hall of Mr. Roebinger, one of their countrymen, and whiled or whirled, away the hours of night in the style of good old "faderland."

So closed "the glorious Fourth." Our report, we know, is meagre; but we have a meagre celebration to write about. Next year we hope to chronicle a better one.

Half-Fare to Beloit.

It will be seen by the following that the railroads have generally put their fare at half-price to the republican meeting at Beloit on the 13th of July. We would urge on our friends throughout the county to make preparations to attend this grand gathering of the republican forces from southern Wisconsin and Illinois. It will undoubtedly be a very large meeting.—Turn out, republicans, one and all.

Office of the Sec'y of M. & M. R. R. 1 Milwaukee, June 25, 1891.

Com. Sec'y of the M. & M. R. R., Beloit, Wis.—Dear Sir:—Yours of the 19th is at hand. We will carry at half fare such passengers as may desire to attend the gathering to which you refer on the 13th of July next.

Truly yours,

W. M. JERVIS, Sup't.

The reduction on the M. & M. R. R. will give the republicans at Madison, Milton, Whitewater, Edgerton, and all places along the line, a fine opportunity of attending the meeting, reaching Beloit at 1 P. M. and returning at 12 in the same evening.

ANOTHER EXCURSION.—We desire to call the attention of our readers in this vicinity to the excursion to Madison next Thursday by the Sabbath school and congregation of the Congregational church of this city. All the excursions of this character have been seasons of real enjoyment, and with the preparations making for the one next Thursday, there is every reason to believe it will be at least equal any of its predecessors.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW.—The following persons were appointed, at the adjourned meeting of citizens on Wednesday evening the executive committee for the National Horse Show and Ladies' Equestrian Fair, to be held in this city next September: R. B. Treat, J. P. D'etson, M. F. McKee, H. E. Patterson, D. H. Babbit, M. C. Smith, O. P. Robinson, P. Eylesheimer, J. M. Leonard, C. A. H. H. and E. H. Bennett.—J. J. R. Pease, as president of the association, was made chairman of this committee, and H. M. Hale, as secretary of the association, was made secretary of the committee. The duties of the committee are, the appointment of the awarding committees for the fair and show, the selection of marshals, and such other matters as pertain to the general management of the exhibition. A meeting of the committee will be held at council room, Saturday evening next, at half-past seven o'clock.

ENGINE COMPANY NO. 1.—A portion of the proceedings of engine company No. 1, in connection with their visit to Monroe, have created a good deal of comment among our citizens, and have met with general if not universal condemnation. An official communication will probably be made to the council at its meeting to-morrow evening, and when made we shall publish it. If the facts are as we hear them, and shall be shown on an examination, we do not see how the council, in justice to itself and the people of the city, can hesitate to promptly disband the company.

CHASE VS. THE CITY OF JANESVILLE.—A judgment of two thousand dollars was rendered against the city of Janesville, on Tuesday, in favor of one Chase, for damages sustained in falling from an embankment on Bridge street in this city. Nothing is gained by poor or dangerous highways and streets. Exchange.

The above judgment was not two thousand dollars, but two hundred.

HORSE THIEVES ABOUT.—On Tuesday evening Mr. A. Keith's horse was stolen from his premises in Johnston. He offers one hundred dollars reward for the apprehension of the thief, and a liberal reward for the recovery of the horse. The horse of a Mr. Martin of the same town was also taken from the stable last evening, and on being fired upon, the thief left the horse and took himself away in double quick time. A dose of salt, with a mixture of shot about the size of a small bullet, would be a good medicine for these rascals. It is better to put in more bullets than salt.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—As a partial sequel of your programme of proceedings for the 4th of July we submit the following, pertaining to the game of base ball.

Edward Ruger and Wm. Birt were chosen umpires by the clubs, and H. Vermilye referee. Ira Dutton and Isaac Jewell were selected for batmen.

We would take this occasion to say, that we have some fine players as there are in the state, among whom are A. C. Fish, H. R. Clum, R. Young, J. B. Howe and Frank Pierce.

The men of each club were promptly on the grounds, and after a slight delay the roll was called at half-past three o'clock and the game commenced. The Janesville club having the first innings, and winning the first game, and the Bower City club having the first innings of, and winning, the second and third games.

A TROTT SUPPER.—A pleasant entertainment was given at Mitchell's "Home Saloon" last Monday evening, by two of our citizens, G. S. Strasberger and George Benton, as the conclusion of a successful trot excursion to Richland county last week.—The supply of this brook luxury was abundant, accompanied by a variety of other dishes that Mitchell knows so well how to prepare, and the best evidence of the appreciation of the entertainment by the scores of friends who partook of it was the universal desire for its repetition.
